J. J. C. Orchestra To Appear December 9

The first concert of the Joplin Junior College Community Orchestra will be presented Sunday afternoon, December 9, in the Senior High School auditorium.

Experienced talent overbalances the comparative newness of the organization and the music is well worth listening to. A number of familiar and beautiful compositions are to be included on the program. Among them are:

"Medley" from "Oklahoma"
"Emperor Waltz" by Strauss
"The Secret Marriage Overture" by Cimarosa
"Symphony No. 1" by Beethoven
"Suite of English Folk Songs" by Vaughan Williams

"Saraband" by Leroy Anderson. If the students and the public enjoy this orchestra and manifest their interest in it, there is good reason to believe that it can become a permanent source of pleasure to this community.

GOOD-BYE, MY FANCY' NEARING FINAL STAGE

"Good-bye, My Fancy," first play of the school year, will be presented December 6, 7, and 8. Tickets will be on sale during the week preceding the play and on the days of the performances.

"Good-bye, My Fancy" is a timely play. The theme concerns one of the major problems confronting modern educators. The final way in which the problem is resolved is designed to please and entertain the audience.

The cast, announced in last issue, comprises a wide range of talent and experience. The only member of the cast previously seen on the Joplin Junior College stage is Carl Fain, who is featured as Jim Merrill in "Good-bye, My Fancy." Mr. Bob Heater, appearing as Matt Cole in the play, has appeared in both stock and professional road companies. He assures us, however, that the final production will not be a starring vehicle for himself but remain a college production in which the student cast will be featured. The cast represents Joplin, Carthage, Webb City, and Carterville.

According to those who have been watching rehearsals, no one will be disappointed in the final production. The attendance of many Joplin Junior College alumni is anticipated.

Welcome Home, Alumni

Greetings, alumni! As you journey back to renew old friendships and re-live fond memories, we salute you. We are proud of the good standing and good reputation that J. J. C. has earned in the past; we are proud of the outstanding work alumni are doing in many fields. You help bring to life the high standards that we are striving to attain. Your achievements in other colleges and your successfulness on the job have helped to make J. J. C. a fine institution.

Homecoming week is annually filled with excitement and glamour.

Our New Nameplate

The Chart greets you today with a new nameplate designed for us exclusively by Tom Tipping.

Our paper has been winning more than its share of high awards for good writing, but we have not been pleased with our typographical ratings. Since we are anxious to make all possible improvements we sent several issues of The Chart to experts in typography for criticism.

One of their first suggestions was that we replace our "ugly" nameplate with one planned by a good art student. Following consultation with Mr. Boles, we asked Tom to sketch the new headaddress which we hope you and the typographers like:

COLLEGE STAFF GO TO VARIOUS MEETINGS

The last few weeks have proved to be weeks of conferences and conventions for members of the J. J. C. staff. At least eight have gone to meetings in their special fields, in addition to the Southwest Missouri Teachers Convention which all attended, and the Nevada College Workshop in which eighteen participated.

Mrs. Frazier went to St. Louis in early October for the 1951 meeting of the Missouri State Library Association. One of the main problems discussed by the librarians was the enlargement of the present library program. They especially urged that Missouri's "Bookmobile" program be greatly increased. Mrs. Frazier said that she particularly enjoyed the tour of St. Louis County libraries. She noticed that several "were furnished with light oak furniture and in color schemes similar to our own library."

Miss Smith, Miss Coffey, and Miss Headlee gave a Saturday to attending three sessions of the Inter-State Affiliate of the National Council of Teachers of English which met in Pittsburgh. At one session Miss Smith was a member of a panel discussing "The Teaching of Poetry." Miss Headlee, who is president of the Affiliate, presided.

Just a few days later President Wood and Dean Flood went to Joliet, Illinois, to attend the annual meeting of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. The three-day affair was held at Joliet Junior Col-

Bob Rousselot Speaks To Student Body

Mr. Robert Rousselot, a former J. J. C. student who has spent the last six years as Chief Pilot for General Chenault's Civil Air Transport, was the guest speaker in assembly last Wednesday. Introduced by his brother, President Dick Rousselot, Bob emphasized that he was speaking as a civilian and that his ideas were strictly his own.

Rousselot began his comments on the foreign policy of the United States by saying, "The civilian and military personnel the United States is at present sending to Formosa to aid Chiang Kai-shek are doing an efficient job in comparison with the first groups that were sent after World War II. Their hands were tied. This is one reason why the mainland of China was lost."

He denied that the Chinese people are "commies." He reiterated the idea that they turned to communism for lack of anything else. "They lost confidence in the rest of the world and became very susceptible to the Red propaganda machine."

After expressing the opinion that Chiang could not at this time make a successful invasion of the Chinese mainland "without increased aid and cooperation from outside interests," Rousselot went on to point out that there is some encouragement in the fact that "Nationalist guerrilla forces have stepped up their meager program against the Red rule and in a year or two will be a constant threat to the communists."

In answer to one of the questions asked at the conclusion of his formal remarks, Rousselot ended the discussion with the statement that "General Chiang Kai-shek for all his faults is still the symbol of free China."

lege. This J. J. C., the oldest public junior college in the United States, was celebrating its fiftieth anniversary. Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Flood accompanied the administrators to Joliet.

Last week Miss Coffey, president of the Joplin Teachers Association, and Mr. Gockel were delegates to the Missouri State Teachers Convention in St. Louis.

Game, Parade, And Dance To Highlight Annual Homecoming November 16

Football Squad Nominate Six For The Title Of Queen

The football squad and members of the J. J. C. Student Senate have made extensive plans in connection with Homecoming which will be this Friday, November 16. The football squad has nominated six candidates for the title of Pigskin Princess of 1951-52. Her Majesty, to be elected by the athletes, will be one of the following girls: Donna Ackerman, Marilyn Freer, Billie Blankenship, Patt Murphy, Lou Knight, or Mary Lou Gullette. She will succeed Lorraine Miller who has reigned the past year.

Committees from the Senate have announced three main attractions for the day.

Parade Friday Afternoon

The Homecoming parade featuring the six candidates for Queen is one of the main affairs. According to Gabriel Kassab, committee chairman, the parade will start at 2:15 o'clock at First and Main Streets and proceed to Tenth and Main. The parade, in addition to the float for the candidates sponsored by the Student Senate, will include floats representing several J. J. C. organizations. Drum corps from surrounding towns have also been asked to participate. Other members of the parade committee are Charles Boyd and Ted Lenger. JoAnna Steele, chairman, Patt Murphy, Doyle Herrin, and Dale Harbough comprise the float committee.

Coronation At Half

Coronation of the Homecoming Queen will be the highlight at the half of the Joplin vs. Kemper game, which is called for eight o'clock, Friday night. All six candidates will be presented in the coronation ceremony. Tom Tipping is in charge of this event.

Dance Follows Game

After the football game, the annual Homecoming dance in the College auditorium will climax the activities of the day. The Queen and her attendants will reign over the dance to which all alumni are cordially invited. A popular dance band will play requests throughout the evening. According to Harlan Stark, dance committee chairman, the theme will be in honor of the 1951 Queen. Other senators assisting Stark with arrangements include Billie Blankenship, Donna Ackerman, and Ted Lenger.

Business Education Day

"The city that has the education will have the future." We don't need a "National Something-or-Other Week" to make us conscious of this fact. Business men of our city as well as we, the students, realize that here is a slogan that "drives home."

The job of the school is to educate each student thoroughly and efficiently for his place in the community. It is then the business man's task to provide that place for the high school and college student. Naturally, it goes without saying, the job of each student is to be sure he is readying himself for that position.

As past experience relates, this threefold task is not impossible. It only involves a "get-together" of business men, teachers, and students. Each business man should know just what goes on in the little red schoolhouse the student calls "home," and, likewise, the student and teacher should become acquainted with the world outside.

In Joplin Junior College we students have an opportunity to learn much about business if we enroll in commercial courses or distributive education. In J. J. C., we have abundant opportunity to learn how to become better and happier citizens if we include some liberal arts courses. Still it seems that there will always be many unanswered questions until we meet real people who are on the real job.

We hope that Joplin business men will take advantage of the occasion, Wednesday, November 14, to tour Joplin's schools and see what goes on in those proverbial classrooms. Furthermore, we hope that all students and teachers have an opportunity to talk with some of the people who will give them "the business" in the future.

Have You Noticed Those Walls?

Did that green wall you were leaning against come with you when you walked away? Well, if it did, don't be angry. Rejoice! Finally, after what has seemed ages, we glory in a redecorated building. Combining gray, green, light green, and white, the men with the paint brushes dabbed here and there so that now the halls and classrooms of J. J. C. gleam with newness.

On second thought, all the beautification hasn't taken place this fall. Last spring paint-smeared artists invaded the auditorium and freshened up its appearance along with that of the stage. Anyway, let's all give three cheers to the Board of Education and to the taxpayers of Joplin. Our surroundings would look rather dreary had it not been for their thoughtfulness.

A Freshman Says:

Bring Forth The Lion Cub'

Being a freshman and having no classes in Blaine Hall, I had never wandered to the second floor of the building until recently when the picture-taking process for the yearbook was going on. Since I was early for my appointment, I spent the time browsing around the corridors. Here sitting 'way back in the corner surrounded by extra chairs was a glass cage apparently discarded—discarded as a housewife would an old trunk filled with objects she no longer treasures. Upon investigating, however, I noticed that this cage contained a mounted cub lion stretched out perfectly on a rock. Yes, I said a lion—the Joplin Junior College emblem—something most schools would have proudly placed in their trophy case and in view of visitors, not in the least-traveled corner on the campus.

Now there have been many lively discussions lately over the question "What is school spirit?" And, I'm willing to admit that many editorials could be written defining "school spirit" in many ways. Certainly any complete definition would have to hinge upon many activities, in addition to athletics.

But at present I'm not so much concerned with "What is school spirit?" as with "Where is our school spirit?" If you've attended any of the football games which the Lions have played this season, you have found very few classmates among the handful of spectators. One can scarcely hear the yells across the gridiron. What does it take, a championship team to get student support? What am I doing to help out?

Well, maybe emblems aren't important. But to some of us this precious little lion cub, presented by the Joplin Lions Club, would serve as a powerful symbol, and reminder, if it were more in evidence. It would remind us to give our yelling support to our Lions; it would remind us that win or lose they're still our team, and a clean team of which to be proud.

Royalty On Review

Make way for the royal party! The princesses of J. J. C. are now on review! The title of Homecoming Queen is at stake and six fair damsels have been selected to compete for the coveted place. Each princess possesses beauty, intelligence, graciousness, and poise. Each has a personality all her own, but only one can win the title. The judges? None other than the 1951 football squad who now present the princesses:

Princess Donna, fair of face, passes before you. This princess, who is quite active in the affairs of J. J. C. always has something nice to say about everyone. Donna is taking the general business course and plans to become a secretary. She is student senator, a member of the choir, a special Chart typist, and an actress in the fall play. Says Princess Donna, "I feel very honored to be chosen as candidate."

Next in the royal procession is Princess Billie. As student senator, feature editor of the Chart, and a member of the pep squad, Billie keeps busy in J. J. C. doings. "I think it is wonderful to be selected as a queen candidate," she states. This brown-haired, brown-eyed princess is also taking the general business curriculum. As yet, she is undecided as to vocation.

Tall and stately Princess Marilyn now takes the limelight. Blonde and fair Marilyn is interested in all kinds of sports and is on the Crossroads staff. She will also be in the fall play. The general business course is her choice since she plans to become a secretary. "I am happy to be chosen candidate for Homecoming Queen," comments Marilyn.

Stepping into the center of attraction is Princess Lou. Lou holds the distinction of being the only sophomore candidate. She is a J. J. C. cheerleader and enjoys football very much. General business is her curriculum. Upon finding out that she had been nominated, Lou said unbelievably, "Really? I'm so happy to be one of the candidates."

Princess Mary Lou now walks onto the scene. This pretty princess has dark hair and eyes and a smile for everyone. Mary Lou who is taking the teacher training course plans to become an elementary teacher. She is a student senator, a cheerleader, and a member of the choir and the ensemble. "It is a pleasant surprise to be nominated for queen," exclaimed Mary Lou.

Last and least (in size, that is) is petite Princess Patt. Patt is enrolled in the general business course and is planning to become a secretary. "It is really a thrill to be a candidate," announced Patt, who is a J. J. C. cheerleader, a student senator, and a member of the Crossroads staff. Patt will also appear in the fall play. So here you have the chosen ones. Among them is a queen! The judges are pondering. The student body waits breathlessly! Who among them will be the 1951 Homecoming Queen?

BEVERLY BUZZARD GOES TO Y.W.-Y.M. CONFERENCE

Beverly Buzzard represented J. J. C. at the Missouri District Regional Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. Conference held at Park College, Parkville, November 2-4. The Conference was held to discuss the aims and purposes of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A.

Fourteen-Year History Records J. J. C.'s Story of Progress

A little over fourteen years ago, the city of Joplin added another step on its ladder toward greatness, Joplin Junior College. This then is the story of that step. But first let us go back to the year 1896. In that year the north part of the building in which J. J. C. now resides had its birth. Eleven years later, in 1907, the south part of the building was added, resulting in the present structure. It now housed the Joplin High School which along with the city was growing every year. By World War I, Joplin found that it badly needed a new high school building. The first bond issue failed, but through the efforts of civic minded citizens it finally passed. By 1918, J. H. S. was moved into its new building. Old J. H. S. then found itself heir to a series of odd jobs, serving as North Junior High, as W. P. A. administration headquarters, and as a business college.

Three teachers have been with the College since its inception, namely, Miss Drummond, Miss Coffey, and Miss McCormick. Several more have been with us since 1938. These are Miss Steininger, Mrs. Spangler, and Dr. Stevick. J. J. C. has had two presidents, Mr. E. A. Elliott, Superintendent of Joplin Schools from 1930 to 1943, and Mr. Roi Wood, from 1943 to the present. The College has had three deans. Dean Blaine was first, from 1937 to 1947. Then Dean Harlan Bryant was with the school from 1947 to 1949. Dean Flood has been here since 1949.

When the Second World War hit the College, Mr. Gockel, who replaced Mr. Henning as Dean of Men, found the male population of the College decreasing. Many joined the services; some did not return. But J. J. C. weathered the storm. Then another blow fell. In 1946, Dean Blaine announced his retirement. The guiding hand that J. J. C. had known so long was going to go. In that same year, however, the College added another unit to its campus, Blaine Hall, named in honor of Dean Blaine.

During the two years that Dr. Bryant remained, the library was modernized and Joplin Junior College was accredited by the North Central Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges.

So reads the early history of J. J. C., the story of a step that the city of Joplin has never regretted making. Faces may change, the scene may enlarge, but as long as there are people to remember, there will be JOPLIN JUNIOR COLLEGE.

General Hershey Announces Rules For SSCQT Eligibility

Sixty-three per cent of the 339,000 students who took the Selective Service College Qualification Tests last spring and summer made a score of 70 or better, Major General Lewis B. Hershey, Director of Selective Service reported today. He said further breakdown of the results of the former tests would be available within a short time.

The new series of tests will be given Thursday, December 13, 1951, and Thursday, April 24, 1952, by the Educational Testing Service of Princeton, New Jersey, at more than 1,000 different centers throughout the United States and its territories. The blanks may be obtained by the registrant at any local board office.

General Hershey stressed the importance of all eligible students taking the test, and indicated that those who do not have test score results in their cover sheets may have a "very difficult time indeed" in convincing their local boards that they should be deferred as students.

Applications for the April 24, 1952 test must be postmarked not later than midnight, March 10, 1952.

To be eligible to apply for the test, General Hershey pointed out, a student must:

(1) Intend to request deferment as a student; (2) be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time college course; (3) must not previously have taken a Selective Service College Qualification Test.

If you are interested in seeing the complete press release, see the bulletin board in the Main hall.)

Basketeers Of '41 Do Well In Civilian And Military Life

The 1951 Joplin Junior College Homecoming game here Friday will mark the closing of another year as far as former students are concerned, for each year at this time another class joins the alumni section. By featuring a few, we pay tribute to all athletes of yesteryear. (Deciding which ones to feature is probably one of the most difficult tasks of the year, although J. J. C. is still a young college.)

But, for this issue, let us turn the pages of history back through the war years to the basketball season of 1942, just before most of the Lions marched off. Here we find a group of fifteen young athletes called the Joplin Junior College Lions Basketball squad. These men have excelled to high degrees although they had their work interrupted by the war.

Major Bob Graham, now in his tenth year as a U. S. Air Corps pilot, is making a career of the military. Bob, who enlisted in the Air Corps shortly after the war broke out, is at present in training at Boeing Aircraft in Wichita, learning B-47 jet piloting. Prior to two years ago, when Graham started studying jet piloting, he was stationed at Boswell, New Mexico, where he had been stationed for three years flying B-29's. While serving two years in the South Pacific during World War II, he flew 55 missions in B-24's. The Major and Mrs. Graham, the former Susan Saunders of Boswell, have a three-month-old son.

Denny McColgin is purchasing agent for the Salldome Oil Production Company in Houston, Tex., where he went after spending a year with the National Supply Company, Odessa, Texas. Denny received his engineering degree at Rolla School of Mines in 1948 following a period of active duty in the United States Air Corps and Field Artillery. He married Narisene Burgin of Houston, Missouri, and is the father of two sons.

Marvin Pearson continued his education at Utah State Agricultural College, Logan, Utah, where he received a B. S. degree in forestry. He was discharged from the U. S. Air Force in '46 with the rank of second lieutenant. After spending one year in Boise, Idaho, as a forest ranger, Marvin went to Baker, Oregon, where he is a soil conservationist for the Federal government.

Captain Glenn Weygandt, a doctor of anesthesiology, has undoubtedly ranked himself among the most successful young men ever to attend J. J. C. Glenn spent several years in school after leaving Joplin. He received his B. S. degree from the University of Missouri, his M. D. from Washington University, St. Louis. He served two years internship at the Baylor University Hospital, Texas, and two years internship at Chicago University Hospital. While in Chicago, Glenn entered the armed forces under the Navy 12 program to study anesthesiology. After passing the medical board in Missouri, Texas and Illinois, he went ahead to pass the All-American. In July '50, he sailed with his wife, formerly Helen Ratford of Illinois, for Europe where Dr. Weygandt is in charge of the Department of Anesthesia at the 97th General Hospital in Frankfort, Germany. Glenn's duties in the field of anesthesiology take him to various points in Europe.

Bob Masters continued his basketball career into the coaching field. Bob received his A. B. degree from Drury with a major in economics. The last report from Masters stated he was an American history teacher and basketball coach in the high school at Rolla.

Charles Patrick is now a civil engineer for an Illinois pipeline company. Charles spent two years in the Air Force as a B-47 pilot including one year overseas stationed in Germany. He reached the rank of first lieutenant.

Jim O'Hara has also made a good standing, both civil and military. Jim spent thirty-five months in service as anti-air craftsman and instructor. After serving in World War II, including fifteen months overseas duty in Germany and Belgium, he was recalled to active duty from the reserves in April, 1950. Second Lieutenant O'Hara received a medical discharge in the fall of the same year, at which time he became connected with the Boeing Aircraft factory, Wichita, where he is doing confidential work.

David Thompson is now connected with the United States Treasury Department doing Internal Revenue work here in Joplin. He received his degree from Kansas State Teachers College, Pittsburg, and was connected with the Credit Department of the B. F. Goodrich Company out of Kansas city for sometime before entering the federal work. David served one year in the U. S. Tank Corps and two years in the Air Corps as tail gunner. He is continuing to serve his country as he assumes the assistant scoutmaster duties of Troop 14 in Joplin.

Bill Davis has settled in Joplin as an insurance adjuster. As a lieutenant (j. g.), Bill served in the Naval Transport service from 1942-46. He and his wife, Patricia Burgess, have a son and a daughter.

Lee McNeel, who made a fine record at Washington University, is now practicing medicine at Greenfield, Missouri.

We regret that we were unable to gather any recent information about Roger Edgar, Joe Bates, Don Atteberry, and Captain Oglesby who were also members of that outstanding group.

Students Express Opinions On Sports

To have them or not to have them is the question concerning inter-collegiate sports. Many of the students of Joplin Junior College have been thinking about this subject. The problem here at J. J. C. is not as big as in the larger colleges and universities, but the students here have expressed some opinions.

"As the situation is today," related Lloyd Mink, "I would definitely say a drastic change is needed if Big Amateur sports are to be continued."

Tommy Smith stated, "I believe that with set rules and regulations followed by all schools, this problem of corrupt athletics could be eased."

Handball To End

Bill Bushmeyer, Lew Springer, Max Joslen, and Tom Tipping will enter the semi-finals in the handball tournament at the Y. M. C. A.

Bushmeyer went three rounds, winning rounds two and three, to defeat Gabe Kassab while Springer won two straight over Bill Warren in the bottom bracket of the quarter finals.

In the upper bracket, Max Joslen eliminated Bill Wallace in the first two games as Tipping did Hayes.

The winner of each bracket will play the championship game.

Coffeyville Rolls Over Joplin, 27-6

The J. J. C. Lions were rolled over by Coffeyville Red Ravens, 27-6, Saturday, November 3, at Coffeyville. Although the Lions stood strong both defensively and offensively, they failed to hold an experienced Kansas team. But the Green and Gold lost only 5 yards on penalties; Coffeyville lost 80 yards on 10 penalties ranging from off side to clipping.

The Red Ravens scored early in the first period when Joe Wastoskie packed the pigskin over the goal line from the 3-yard line after a Joplin fumble on the 20 set the stage. Brad Buckner's placement for the extra point was good.

The Lions came back in the second period to score their lone T. D. Red Raven Quarterback Bill Travis, who was forced to punt on his own 15-yard line, kicked out of bounds on his 2. Joe Phillips was thrown for a 4-yard loss when he attempted an aerial. Doyle Herrin brought the ball to the 15 on two plays off left guard where Fullback Gary Testerman parted the Coffeyville line and drove the distance to pay dirt. The first half short end, 28-13.

When Houchen kicked off to open the second half, Don McWhirt returned the ball 85 yards into the Joplin end zone to make the only third quarter score. Buckner's placement was good.

Coffeyville's final tally was spearheaded by Reggie Hurd, left halfback for the Ravens. He returned a Joplin punt 46 yards to the Lions' 38-yard line. Moya circled right end to the 2 where he was driven out of bounds by "Spike" Elder. Andy Carroll packed the pigskin to the 18 where Dick Bachelder made the distance on his second attempt on the first play of the final stanza. Buckner's placement was good, giving the out-of-state team a 27-6 victory.

Loretta Buzzard, when asked about the situation, replied, "I think that with intelligent effort the flaws of inter-collegiate sports could be eliminated."

Judy Brookshire expressed the belief that if academic standards for athletes could be raised some of the undesirable aspects of college sports would be eliminated.

Lions To Meet Kemper Yellowjackets In Homecoming Game Friday

Joplin Junior College Lions will meet Kemper Junior College Yellowjackets in the 1951 Homecoming game here at Junge's Stadium, Friday night. Kick-off time is eight o'clock.

The Lions, coached by Ed Hodges, will be trying for their first victory. J. J. C. was set back 27-6 by Fort Scott in the season's opener and trampled 21-6 by a strong Independence squad. Iola Junior College whitewashed the Joplins 31-0 while Parsons ran a 34-7 score up over them. More recently Coffeyville Junior College defeated them 27-6.

Both teams are rather inexperienced. Coach Francis Titus' squad opened the season with Burlington J. C., but came out on the short end, 20-14. Missouri Valley Valley B team ran over the Yellowjackets handily, 41-7. Kemper's third defeat came at the hands of Kansas City Junior College. They rolled over Kemper 20-0. Principia, a fast and rugged eleven, held Kemper scoreless in winning 24-0. Probably Kemper's best game of the season was with Chillicothe Business College. The Ducks plunged under the Yellowjackets in a close 12-7 battle. Kemper's last game was with Oklahoma Military Academy. In this game the Yellowjackets came out again on the end, 28-13.

Merlyn Elder, halfback, has been the top scorer for the Green and Gold. He made the first two t. d.'s through the line while an aerial from quarterback Joe Phillips to Jim Showalter and a 15-yard break through the line by fullback Gary Testerman accounts for the latter two. Bob Sisk and Doyle Herrin are also top ground gainers for the Joplin gridders. In the line Bill Carpenter, Gene Reniker, Charles Woodworth, Jerry Houchen, Cyphers, Bob Cantrell, and others have formed a strong J. J. C. wall. Carl Fain, end, has been strong both on defense and offense.

Kemper's scoring this year has also been split between running and passing. In the Oklahoma game, the Yellowjackets scored on a 26-yard pass from Pete Byers to John Eihl. Ken Walker scored the other t. d. on a 2-yard plunge. In other games, Byers, Danny Wells, and Jerry Hoover have scored.

Students Express Opinions On Sports

a grave fault to Lew Springer.

"The greatest fault of inter-scholastic sports," suggested Donna Ackerman, "is over emphasis on winning." She thinks this spoils the fun and sportsmanship of the games.

"First and foremost, college athletics bring a pleasure and an entertainment to many people and, therefore, should not be discontinued," declared Bill Reser.

"In view of the recent controversy, I feel it imperative that inter-scholastic athletics be more closely supervised," counselled Griff Humphrey. He also pointed out that it would be detrimental to both the institution and the individual if athletics were discontinued.

In the J. J. C. line-up, Coach Hodges will start Fain and Showalter as ends; Carpenter and Houchen, tackles; Cyphers and Reniker, guards; Cantrell, center. The backfield will have Phillips calling signals; Sisk and Herrin, running halves; Gary Testerman, full.

Kemper's starting line-up will have Frank Scott and Bob Brown, ends; John Mooneyham and James Piskos, tackles; Jody Crossett, center; James Kranich and Lowell Bradley, guards. The backfield will be composed of Eihl, Walker, Byers, and Hoover. All operating from the short punt.

Thinking Back

Fasten your safety belts and prepare to take off on a bit of nostalgic reminiscence for the days long gone by. Rumor has it that many of the women in J. J. C.'s past were sports-minded, so this glance backward is dedicated to the alumnii.

According to reports, the W. A. A. kept J. J. C. girls interested in all kinds of "doings" in the sports world of 1946. President Marilee Marrs, Vice-president Kathleen Thomas, Secretary Phyllis Williams, and Treasurer Margaret Ann Boyd led the organization.

Volleyball "sports" from the year '47 really had to bustle when they played Pittsburg. Those participating in one roaring game were alumnae Shirley Shinn, Lois Winter, Lois Millison, Vera Scott, Mary Alice Outland, Phyllis Gilbert, and Patsy Everhard.

Rooting for the Green and Gold in '47 were cheerleaders Gerry Armstrong, Button Collins, Dorothy Dudley, Mary Lou Smalley, Barbara Thurman, and Anne Turner.

Year 1948 brought with it two top scorers in bowling--Joan Thomas and Stella Felkins. Others on the bowling team included Jean Brown, Loralie Robertson, Barbara Jean Taylor, Mary Sue Walters, and Jeanne Henderson.

With Shirley Blankenship as scorekeeper and Erline McDonald, timekeeper, members of the W. A. A. of '48 entertained visitors from Miami and Pittsburg in a lively volleyball game. That J. J. C. team included Jane Bennett, Pat Green, Betty Hadley, Dorothy Hancock, Christine Krueger, Martha Short, Billye Talmadge, and Jane Williams.

Christine Krueger, Bobby Anne Hayes, Pat Green, and Marilyn Land, also of '48, made a fine foursome on the tennis courts.

1949 found the girls of J. J. C. practicing for another of those annual volleyball games with Pittsburg. The team this year included Mary Walker, captain, Wylene Kennedy, Pat Miller, Marilyn Land, and Jean Brown, forwards, and Rayma Jean Rowland, Celia Braeckel, Loralie Robertson, and Jeanne Everhard, guards.

Leading the Green and Gold in '49 were Ruthie Sullinger, Mona Wilbur, Pat Martin, Mary Lou Bandy, Jo Ita Galloway, and Carolyn Jenkins.

Now you recall more easily, don't you? No, it really hasn't been long since the good old days when these and other things happened as you, the alumnae, roamed the halls of J. J. C.
